

Why We Can't Show Exact Prices

We understand that some people would prefer actual prices on the vehicles listed in our site, and we wish that we could do this also. Here is the problem that we run into however; any of the new vehicles often have rebates that change regularly and we would have to check with the manufacturers and update them daily – on every new van!

By giving you a range, we can get you to an area of approximate pricing without inadvertently making a mistake. As for the used vans, Ride-Away sells virtually every used van with a complete money back guaranty as well as a 60 day bumper to bumper warranty – along with other warranties. On top of that, Ride-Away hires and employs ASE Certified automotive technicians, has 24 hour-365 day service, we have indoor showrooms and a huge inventory, as well as highly trained mobility consultants and many other benefits to you as a purchaser. This means that we may not be the least expensive and it is our fear that unless you take the time to learn about all that we do for our clients and the community, and shop only based on price that you may end up with a cheaper vehicle. But, we can assure you it will not be a wonderful experience. Take the time to talk to us before you vote with your wallet: We're sure that you too will value a company who supports the community and its clients the way Ride-Away does!
